SAFARI OVERVIEW

Embark on an exclusive puma tracking expedition in Torres del Paine, Chile, one of the world's top destinations for observing these elusive big cats in their natural habitat. This Patagonia wildlife tour offers a rare opportunity to explore Estancia Laguna Amarga, a private reserve with one of the highest wild puma densities, ensuring optimal sightings. Led by expert guides, our puma safari in Chile takes you on dawn and dusk excursions to follow pumas as they hunt guanacos, patrol territories, and interact with cubs. Travel through rugged Patagonian landscapes in 4x4 vehicles and on guided treks, maximizing your wildlife encounters. Beyond pumas, witness Andean Condors, guanacos, Patagonian foxes, and Patagonian hog-nosed skunks as you explore this breathtaking region. The journey concludes at Olga Teresa Ranch, home to the largest concentration of Andean Condors, offering unparalleled photography opportunities.

WHY CHOOSE THIS TRIP?

- Exclusive Puma Tracking at Laguna Amarga Ranch: Enjoy private access to prime puma territory for four days of guided tracking.
- Unparalleled Big Cat Photography: Capture stunning images of hunting, stalking, and mother-cub interactions in golden Patagonian light.
- 4x4 & Trekking Excursions: Travel in off-road vehicles and take moderate hikes for the best wildlife viewing opportunities.

- Andean Condor Viewing at Olga Teresa Ranch: Witness the largest concentration of Andean condors soaring above dramatic cliffs.
- Immersive Patagonia Experience: Explore the glacial valleys, southern beech forests, and windswept steppes of Torres del Paine.

LEADER

Cheesemans' Ecology Safaris carefully selects leaders who are experts in their field to ensure that your experience is the best it can be. One leader, assisted by an additional local guide(s) will provide a range of expertise for your trip.

Nicolás Castro

Nicolás is a skilled wildlife guide and photographer based in Puerto Natales, Chile. A graduate of Canada's College of the Rockies, his deep knowledge of Patagonian ecosystems is complemented by guiding and expedition experience across Chile, Argentina, Canada, and Central America. Originally from Chile's Lake District, he brings years of experience leading high-end tours in Torres del Paine National Park. His passion for photography and conservation led to his photographs being featured in educational and promotional materials to raise awareness around wildlife and ecosystem preservation. His combined passion and skill make him an exceptional leader dedicated to conservation and immersive nature experiences.

DETAILED ITINERARY

Nov 12 ~ Travel to Punta Arenas, Chile or El Calafate, Argentina.

You may either fly into Punta Arenas or El Calafate depending on cost and convenience.

Nov 13 ~ Arrive in Punta Arenas or El Calafate.

If arriving from our South Georgia and Antarctic Peninsula trip, you will take a direct flight to El Calafate. There are no direct flights from Ushuaia to Punta Arenas. Our local agent will transfer you from the airport to the hotel. If you would like to arrive earlier, we can arrange divergent airport transfers and extra nights.

Nov 14 ~ Transfer to Cerro Castillo and begin exploring Torres del Paine along the way.

During your journey to the park, you will look for guanaco, southern grey fox, and Patagonian skunk while enjoying your first views of southern beech (Nothofagus) forest. While visiting the valleys, you will be given a geological interpretation of the origins of the dramatic backdrop of Torres del Paine, one of the finest natural spectacles in Patagonia.

Nov 15–18 ~ Spend 4 days puma trekking at Laguna Amarga Ranch.

You will explore the puma hunting grounds located on the eastern flank of the park and throughout the property of Estancia Laguna Amarga, where exclusive access and a strong rapport with the owners provide a unique advantage. This area, encompassing the northern coast of Sarmiento Lake, Laguna Amarga, and Laguna Azul, is renowned for its dense puma population, one of the largest concentrations in the wild.

With the aid of a rugged 4x4 vehicle, you will navigate the ranch, although the adventure also includes easy to moderate walks, demanding a basic level of fitness to keep pace. The terrain, while generally manageable, may present altitude variations between 50-250m (160-1,000ft), but the group will proceed at a leisurely and steady rate. The highest elevation reached during this journey will be 300m (1,000ft) above sea level.

Pumas are most active at night, early in the mornings, and late in the evenings. Thus, the itinerary is designed around these peak times, allowing observation of these magnificent creatures as they patrol their territory, hunt guanacos and other prey, interact with their offspring, or travel between hunting grounds and dens. Each day will feature two sessions: a morning session and an evening session, each approximately 4 hours long. Midday puma watching will be avoided to prevent disturbing the animals during their critical resting and recuperating periods after a night of hunting.

Nov 19 ~ Spend the morning in Torres del Paine and visit Andean Condors at the Olga Teresa Ranch.

After a final morning enjoying Torres del Paine, you'll spend the afternoon at Olga Teresa Ranch which boasts the world's largest concentration of Andean Condor roosts. The steep cliffs host as many as 100 birds with excellent access for viewing and photography, and you'll have a chance to climb to the top of Cerro Palomares, a 700-foot-high hill to view the condors. Olga Teresa Ranch is a protected space for these beautiful birds, as well as an important research site.

Conservation

Our company ethos has always regarded conservation as inseparable from responsible tourism. We struggle with the dilemma that traveling worldwide expends climate-changing carbon. However, we wholeheartedly believe that traveling with us will cultivate your passion for conserving our beautiful world while stimulating each destination's local economy. We encourage you to explore the various ways in which Cheesemans' operates within this context:

- Cheesemans' Trips are Carbon Neutral.
- Offsetting your Travel to/from our Trip: We ask you to pledge to offset the carbon emissions for your travel to and from our trips. You can purchase offsets with most airlines (Delta includes them automatically), use our handy carbon calculator and donate to Sustainable Travel International, or contribute to your favorite offsetting organization.
